SYNOPSIS

THE QUIET GIRL (AN CAILÍN CIÚIN) is het ingetogen en betoverende debuut van de Ierse regisseur Colm Bairéad. De film vertelt een universeel verhaal over het vinden van je eigen plek, gezien door de ogen van de jonge Cáit. Zowel de Ierse taal als het prachtige landschap kleuren haar wereld.

Ierland 1981. Met opnieuw een kind op komst, hebben haar ouders thuis niet voldoende plek voor de jonge, introverte Cáit (Catherine Clinch). Ze wordt voor een zomer naar familie op het platteland gestuurd, waar ze liefdevol wordt opgevangen door tante Eibhlín (Carrie Crowley). Cáit's stugge oom Seán (Andrew Bennett) heeft meer moeite moeite met haar aanwezigheid. Langzamerhand ontdekt Cáit dat er ook in dit huis geheimen zijn. Toch bloeit ze open, maar aan elke zomer komt een einde.

THE QUIET GIRL is genomineerd voor de Oscar voor Beste Internationale Film. Eerder was het al de grote winnaar bij de Irish Film and Television Awards (onder andere Beste Film en Beste Regisseur). THE QUIET GIRL kreeg in The Guardian vijf sterren: 'A deeply moving tale of rural Ireland already feels like a classic.'

DIRECTOR'S BIOGRAPHY

COLM BAIRÉAD: WRITER/DIRECTOR

Colm was born in Dublin and raised bilingually through both Irish and English. He developed a fascination with film at a young age, which was cultivated by his father who introduced him to silent cinema, early Hollywood musicals and 40s noir once the household invested in a VCR player.

Following an adolescence experimenting in the production of short films, Colm went on to study film at the Dublin Institute of Technology. His first commissioned short film after college was Mac an Athar (His Father's Son), a semi-autobiographical film about an Irish-speaking family in Dublin, which enjoyed success on the international festival circuit.

His documentary output has earned him numerous international and Irish Film & Television Academy award nominations and wins. In 2012, Colm received a distinction from the Screen Directors' Guild of Ireland for his "outstanding work as a director in the Irish language". In 2022, Colm was the recipient of the Aer Lingus Discovery Award and the Screen Ireland-IFTA Rising Star Award. The Quiet Girl (An Cailín Ciúin) is Colm's narrative feature film debut. It is the highest grossing Irish-language film of all time and one of the most critically and commercially successful Irish films of recent years. The Quiet Girl is Ireland's official entry for Best International Feature Film at the 95th Academy Awards.

DIRECTOR'S NOTE

THE QUIET GIRL (AN CAILÍN CIÚIN) is an Irish-language adaptation of the acclaimed story, Foster, written by Claire Keegan. First published in the New Yorker and declared "Best of the Year" by the magazine, the story was expanded and published as a standalone book by Faber & Faber in 2010. Writer/director Colm Bairéad first read Foster in the summer of 2018 and was immediately captured by the idea of adapting it as a film.

„Thematically, it touched upon so many areas of concern for me, things that had been present in my short drama work up to that point — the complex bonds of family, the question of emotional and psychological growth and, crucially, the phenomenon of grief and its capacity to shape us.

From a formal perspective, the telling itself was immediately compelling — a first-person, present tense narrative told through the eyes of a young girl. It felt utterly immersive and empathetic and innately visual — so much of it, is what this girl is seeing and feeling moment to moment. The narrative tension of the story is completely derived from the girl's experience, rather than from any over-reliance on plot. And that felt like an appealing challenge from a film-making perspective. The idea of shaping this girl's experience and this being the overriding concern of the film, where the exploration of character and relationship dynamics was completely to the fore. But it was also the "smallness" of the story that I believed in. There's a quote by Mark Cousins where he says that art shows us again and again that if we look closely and openly at a small thing, we can see a great deal in it.

I'm very much drawn to this notion, that something quite expansive and profound can be found in small places, in a kind of narrative humility. More than anything else, however, it was the emotional undertow of the story that convinced me of its potential as a film. Its restraint — and its eventual cathartic release — mesmerised me and I could envision a film adaptation that might produce that same response in its audience. „

THE QUIET GIRL (AN CAILÍN CIÚIN) was financed through the Irish feature film initiative, Cine4, which promotes the production of indigenous cinema in the Irish language. Cine4 is a joint initiative between Screen Ireland, TG4 and the Broadcasting Authority of Ireland.

CLEONA NÍ CHRUALAOI

PRODUCER

Much of Cleona's early work focussed on documentary film before she migrated to the world of narrative feature film.

As a freelance producer, she produced many flagship programmes for Irish broadcasters which won numerous Irish Film and Television Academy awards. She produced the ground-breaking IFTA-nominated documentary series, THE JOY and the feature documentary, LORG NA GCOS (FINDING THE FOOTPRINTS), which won a FOCAL international award.

Cleona set up the production company, Inscéal, with writer/ director, Colm Bairéad in 2012 and in recent years, they have focussed on the production of feature films. Cleona was selected as one of Screen International's Stars of Tomorrow 2022.

KATE MCCULLOUGH

CINEMATOGRAPHER

Following her work on the globally successful TV series, NORMAL PEOPLE, Kate was listed in Screen International's "Stars of Tomorrow 2020".

She received the Golden Frog for "Best Cinematography" for the docudrama I DOLOURS at Camerimage 2018. In the same year, she was nominated for an Emmy for her work on THE FARTHEST. The Hollywood Reporter listed Kate among the Top 10 to watch in the Irish Film Industry in 2017.

Upon completing her studies at The National Film School, Lodz, Poland, Kate shot the Irish box office hit, HIS AND HERS. This film went on to win the "World Cinematography Award in Documentary", Sundance 2010. Kate is a member of the Irish Society of Cinematographers.

STEPHEN RENNICKS

COMPOSER

Stephen has been writing music to picture for over 20 years and in that time has built an international reputation for his work in independent film and in particular, for his scoring of all of Lenny Abrahamson's feature films including the 2016 Oscar-winning ROOM. Rennicks and Abrahamson reunited for the adaptation of Sally Rooney's NORMAL PEOPLE.

Other recent work by Stephen includes the feature film, DEATH OF A LADIES MAN starring Gabriel Byrne.

INSCÉAL (THE PRODUCTION COMPANY)

Established in 2012 by producer, Cleona Ní Chrualaoi and writer/director, Colm Bairéad, Inscéal was originally formed as a vehicle for passion projects in documentary film-making.

It was nominated for several Irish Film and Television Academy awards for its lead series, An Ceoldráma (The Musical) for broadcaster TG4.

Twice shortlisted for the Cine4 feature film development scheme, THE QUIET GIRL (AN CAILÍN CIÚIN) is the debut feature film produced by the company.
